THE OBJECTIONABLE SECTIONS.

Analyzation of Former Diplomatic Relations with China.

the People [SPECIAL BY TELEGRAPH TO THE RECORD-UNI N.]

WASHINGTON, April 5th. - The following is the ful text of the President's message yesterday, vetoing the anti Chinese bill: To THE SENATE: After careful consideration of the enate bill, No. 71, entitled "An Act to execute certain treaty stipulations relating to the Chinese, herewith neturn it to the Senate, in which i originated, with my objections to its pas age. A nation is justified in repudiating its treaty obliations only when they are in conflict with a great and paramount interest. Even then, all possible and reasonable means for modifying or changing hese obligations, by mutual agreement, should be exhausted before resorting to the supreme right of refusal to comply with them. These rules have governed the United States in their past intercourse

I am persuaded that when Congress can feel tha this Act violates the faith of the nation as pledged to China it will concur with this view, and will endeavor to find another Act which shall meet the expectations of the people of the United States without coming in contact with the rights of China The present treaty relations between that power and the United States spring from the antagonism which arose between our paramount domestic inrests and our previous relations under the treaty nly known as the Burlingame Treaty. This onferred upon the Chinese subjects the right of urpose of curiosity or trade, or as permanent resi FRUITS, SEEDS AND PRODUCE. lents, and was in all respects reciprocal as to citi zens of the United States in China. It gave to voluntary immigrants coming to the United State the right to travel there, or to reside there, with all the privileges, immunities or exemptions enjoyed GENERAL COMMISSION MERCHANTS, AND by the citizens or subjects of the most favored

Under the operation of this treaty it was foun that the institutions of the United States and its people, and their means of obtaining a livelihoo might be seriously affected by the unrestricted in troduction of Chinese labor. Congress attempted to alleviate this condition by legislation, but the Act which it passed proved to be in violation of the reaty obligations, and, being returned by the President with his objections, failed to become a law. Diplomatic relief was then sought. A new treaty was concluded with China, without abrogation of the Burlingame Treaty. It was sgreed to modify it so far that the Government of the United States might regulate or suspend the coming of Chinese laborers to the United States, or their residence therein, but it was agreed that it should not absoutely prohibit them, and that the limitation or su pension should be reasonable, and should apply only to Chinese who might go to the United States FULTON MARKET, FIFTH AND K STS.

as laborers, other classes not being included in the This treaty is international, not reciprocal. It is a concession from China to the United States, and is a limitation of the rights which she was enjoying inder the Burlingame treaty. It leaves the United we will enforce these limitations. China may, there fore, fairly have the right to expect that in enforce ing them we will take good care not to overstep th rant and make more than has been conceded to us It is but a year since the new treaty, under the peration of the Constitution, became a part of the apreme law of the land, and the present Act is the which it relinquishes to the United States. By the first article the United States is empowered to de cide whether the coming of Chinese laborers to the United States, or their residence thereis, affects of threatens our interests, or endangers good o der, either within the whole country or in any part of it The Act recites that in the opinion of the Governnent of the United States the coming of Chinese aborers to this country endangers the good order of certain localities thereof; but the Act itself is to or their residence in the United States.

The negotiators of the treaty have recorded with XYHOLESALE DEALERS IN CALIFORNIA unusual fullness their understanding of the sense and meaning with which these words were used, as to the class of persons to be affected by the treaty. The Americans inserted in their draft provisions HOTELS AND RESTAURANTS hat the words "Chinese laborers" should signify all immigration other than that for teaching, travel,

The Chinese objected to this, that it operated to inc ude artisans in the class of laborers whose imm gration might be forbidden.

The Americans rep ied that they could not cor sent that artisans should be excluded from the class of Chinese laborers, for it is their very competition of skill and labor in cities, where the Chmese labor SECOND AND K STREETS, SACRAMENTO, Cal. A passport may be borrowed, exchanged or ever orged by persons interested to do so. If it is nevertheless thought that a passport is the most con venient way for identifying the Chinese entitled to the protection of the Burlingame Treaty, it may still be doubted whether they ought to be required to register. It is certainly our duty, under the Burlingame Treaty, to make their stay in the United States, in the operation of general laws upon them, as nearly like that of our own citizens as we an consistently with our right to shut out the la them to register.

My attention is called by the Chinese Minister to the fact that the Act, as it stands, makes no provi sion for the transit across the United States of the Chinese subjects now residing in foreign countries I think this point may well claim the attention o ears-is unreasonable. The language of Article I. that laborers shall not be absolutely probibited from coming to the United States, and that the 'suspension" shall be reasonable, as well as the negotiations, indicate that a brief period was intended. Tot I prohibition of immigration of Chinese laborers into the United States for twenty years would, in my opinion, be unreasonable, an would be a violation of the meaning and intent of will get with harshness upon the class of Chinese merchants emittled to admission to the United States chants, and eigar manufacturers, merchants of Ch nese goods. They sell goods at their places of busi ness, and to shut out skilled labor would practically shut them out as well, since it would prevent then from carrying on their business in this country. A laundryman who keeps his shop and has a small capital with which to prosecute his trade, cannot, in any just sense, be included in the class of laborers, and a merchant tailor comes in the same category. Third-The clauses of the bill relating to registra against the Chinese residents and immigrants when Article II. provides explicitly that they shall oluntary immigration to the United States for the beent'tled to all the privileges conceded to the subcts of the most favored nation. The execution of these provisions of the bill will cause irritation, and York, Morgan, Pendleton, Pugh, Slater, Teller, in cases of a loss of passports or certificates of reg-

> be forcibly expelled from the country. Fourth-If the bill becomes a law it will leave the impression in China that its Government has strangely misunderstood the character of the treaty, or that Congress has violated some of its provisions and this will tend to prejudice the intelligent class against the United States Government and their people, whom they now greatly admire and respec Fifth-There is no provision in the bill for tran sit across the United States of Chinese subjec's nov residing in foreign countries. Large numbers o Chinese live in Cuba and Peru, and other countries who cannot return home without crossing the ter ritory of the United States or touching at San Fran cisco. To deny this privilege, it seems to me, is a violation of international law and the comity of na tions, and if the bill becomes a law it will, in this respect, result in great hardship to many thousands

I accept this as the definition of the word "laborer," as used in the new treaty. As to the power of legisla tion respecting this class of persons, the new treaty their coming or their residence.

The Chinese Commissioners gave notice at th outset that they would never agree to prohibition of volunteer emigration. Notwithstanding this the United States Commissioners submitted a draft in which it was provided that the United States might regulate limit suspend or prohibit it." The Chinese refused to accept this.

The Americans replied that they were willing to the people of the two countries as established by existing treaties, provided that the right of the guarding against any possible evils of the immigration of Chinese laborers was distinctly recognized. or the residence here of Chinese laborers, there was inserted in the treaty an agreement that we might | here is universally condemnatory of the veto. not do it. The remaining words, "regulate, limit or suspend," first appear in the American draft When it was submitted to the Chinese they said : "We infer that of the phrases regulate, limit, suspend or prohibit, the first is a general expression referring to the others. We are entirely ready to negotiate with your Excellencies to the end that a limitation, either in point of time or numbers, may be fixed upon the emigration of Chinese laborers t

At a subsequest interview they said that by limitation in number " they meant, for example that the United States, having felt, as they sup posed, by the record of the number of immigrations in each year, as well as the total number of Chinese now here, that no more should be allowed to go to America in any one year in future than the greatest number which had gone in any year in the past, or that the total number should never be allowed to the Chinese should be allowed to go in alternate they should not be allowed to go for two, three or fever heat. A spark would create a configration At a subsequent conference the Americans said that the Chinese Commissioners have in their pro ject explicitly recognized the right of the United States to use some discretion, and have proposed a limitation as to time and as to number. This is the right way to regulate, limit or suspend.

Americans whether they could give them any idea of the laws which would be passed to carry the pow rs into execution. The Americans answered evening. The image bore a striking resemblance to that this could hardly be done, and that the United its living model. Great excitement over the veto States Government might never deem it necessary to exercise this power. It would depend upon circumstances. If the Chinese immigration concenfirst treaty with that power is not yet forty years old. trated in the cities where it threatened public order It is only since we acquired California and estab. if it confined itself to localities where it was an in jury to the interests of the American people, the Government of the United States would undon't tedly take steps to prevent such accumulation of Chinese If, on the contrary, there was no large immigration, or if there were sections of the country where such immigration was clearly beneficial, then the legislation of the United States, under this power, would be adapted to such circumstances. For example, there might be a demand for Chinese labor in the South, and a surplus of such labor in California, and Congress might legislate in accordance with these facts. In general, legislation would be in view of and depend upon the circumstances of the situation at the moment such legislation became necessary. The Chinese Commissioners said this explanation was satisfactory. The Bill in the Senate.

> Farley replied that until a vote was taken the enate could not tell whether the vetoed bill would pass over the veto, and therefore it was premature to talk of reference to a committee. For the same eegue this morning as premature.

Ingalls took issue with Sherman at to the propriety of referring the bill to the committee, contending that the Constitution required a direct vote on the question, and did not recognize any attempt to plow around the stump and pregare a new proposition by way of avoiding the objections of the Executive A vote being taken, Farley's motion prevaile syes 29, noes 25.

The vote was a party one, except that Cameron of Wisconsin, Jones of Nevada and Miller of California, voted age with the Democrats. Davis of Illinois and Mahone voted with the Republicans. The Chinese bill was then taken up.

Sherman moved to refer the bill and message to the Committee on Foreign Relations. He supported and elaborated the objections of the President, and Second-In exclusion of "skilled labor" in the bill is particularly of the Chinese Minister, and urged that an addition to the words and intent of the treaty. It as there was no occasion for haste, the measure should be carefully perfected in committee by obviating these objections.

Garland expressed a oninion that in view of the protracted discussions of the mea tre in the Senate and House, it was improbable that any new light could be thrown upon it.

A lengthy debate then ensued, participated in by lorgan, Bayard and others, when a vote was taken n the question, " Shall the bill pass, notwithstandng the objections of the President?" The vote was ayes 29, noes 21. So the bill failed,

TELL-TALE REJOICINGS.

The Democrate have been betrayed into a self-exposure which must not pass unnoticed. The Chinese bill was emphatically a Pacific Coast measure, and in no sense partisan. The people of this State are of supposed that this unanimity of sentiment was due to a common conviction, but the Democrats have just made it evident that, so far as they are concerned, it is more a question of partisanship than anything else. The vete of the bill could only have been regarded, by these who were as yet ignorant of the grounds of objection, as a heavy blow to the interests of the whole coast. It was therefore a matter for general regret and dissatisfaction. But the Democrats everywhere accepted it as a boon instead of a misfortune, and went about rubbing thoir hands and chuckling with unfeigned prospects which they anticipated from it. cannot be depended on to drive them out. to close the door upon him, and herein of the understanding reached with the they have afforded a measure of their sincerity which the people must not lose Cares kidney diseases confined to the conquered country.

AN ISSUE OF FACT. The President's veto of the Chinese bill suspension of Chinese immigration for twenty years would be a violation of the treaty, in spirit if not in letter. Now the language of the treaty is unfortunately so vague and indeterminate that in order to scertain precisely what it means it is necssary to know what the American Comissioners and the Chinese diplomatists who framed it had in their minds at the ime. The treaty itself makes the United States Congress the sole judge as to the expediency of suspending Chinese immigration, and agrees that if the said Congress shall so determine it may at any time suspend this immigration, "for a "reasonable period," The question therefore arises as to what is meant by a reasonable period, and it is obvious that so loose and elastic a phrase ought not to have been employed in a document which was to be the basis and the measure of legislation. The present conjuncture in fact is an impeachment of the treaty, and that this is so is proved by the fact that the President, endeavoring to guide himself not alone by this instrument, but by the recorded minutes of the precedent negotiations, has reached a conclusion which one of the American Commissioners, Mr. John F. Swift, declares to be altogether contrary to the understanding arrived at between the contracting parties. In the memoranda accompanying the President's veto message, which we publish this morning, he dwells with emphasis upon the official record of the negotiations with China, as showing that a twenty year suspension cannot be considered a fair fulfillment of the provisions of the treaty.

On the other hand, Mr. Swift, in an interview with a reporter of the San Franisco Call, says that a much longer period than twenty years was contemplated, and that the Chinese officials were thoroughly reconciled to such a suspension, and fully expected it. Mr. Swift in this interview says that "the Chinese officials were actu-"ally more alive to the magnitude which 'the evil we had pointed out might grow 'to than even the people here are. * * *

'They were ready to discuss the time for which the suspension should be made; the only thing they were unwilling to do was to make a treaty stipulation prohib-'iting their people for all time from coming to America. They did not want it to go forth that they had agreed to stop

'their people from ever going to America, unless it was also agreed that Americans should not go to China, and to that we 'could not agree. But they were willing 'to agree to any suspension which in its 'wisdom our Government thought would 'be necessary to remedy the evil. They 'only asked, 'When the evil is remedied, 'when the time arrives that you would not suffer from Chinese immigration, partisan. The people of this State are of one mind on the Chinese question, and there is no room for party divisions in regard to that subject. It has hitherto been a length of time as supposed that this practical transfer of the people of this State are of one mind on the Chinese question, and there is no room for party divisions in regard to that subject. It has hitherto been and if the Democrats think that they have a "walk-over" because of the veto, we can only say that they are liable to encounter the fate which proverbially over-'a whole generation, thirty three years, fore they are hatched. Swift further says: "I fully hoped for a suspension of thirty years, and the Chi-regretted that pr minent Republicans should have gone about in many places is based mainly upon the position that the loudly expressing their belief that the veto would "give the State to the Democrats." It may not help the Democrats hereafter to have the fact recalled that they openly expressed gratification at the veto, thereby making it plain that they cared very little for the expulsion of the Chinese, but a great deal for the success of their party. The Republicans, however, are always 'too previous" in matters of this kind. They have a strange disposition to help their opponents by meeting the latter halfway; and they take the gloomiest view of matters which, when rightly regarded, are by no means so discouraging as they appear at first sight. The President's veto message shows plainly that he carefully sought out all the light he could obtain upon the situation. He evidently believed that he should be injuring the commercial interests of California by signing a bill which he thought would be regarded as unfair and unfriendly by China. He as evidently believed that the bill did contravene the treaty. If his information on that point has been defective, it cannot be charged to him. Cerfective, it cannot be charged to him. Certainly he was fully justified in concluding that the official records of the negotiations contained a faithful history of the Chinese positions. It appears that there has been some lamentable blundering in this business. It is reported that a boy some lamentable blundering in this business of the cerew got safely and went ashore below Lime Point and became a total loss. He did not make the treaty, nor is he to be held acountable for the looseness and insufficiency its stipulations. But he was bound to guided by it, and if after obtaining all the glosses at his command, it appeared to him that it did not justify the legislation proposed, he could not avoid the course which he took. Considerations such as these should convince the California public It is evident that he is not hostile to any Jail, prior to his trial, he was permitted to sonance with the treaty as he understands that instrument. Somebody has discovered that Easter will be observed this year on the anniversary of the day on which the resurrection really occurred. The only real doubt now about the year of that great event is whether it was A. D. 29 or 30. If the latter, the Paschal full moon fell that year on Thursday, April 6th, the crucifixion would be next day, April 7th, and the resurrection April 9th.

Daily DRESS GOODS have been coming till they are here in full abundance. Bright, fresh styles. Out of the many sorts, we mention to-day only what chance on the counters at this hour of writing:

SATEEN AND CHEVIOT DRESS PATTERNS, in boxes, command our first attention, on account of their oddity and brilliancy of color. All parts of each dress, even to the buttons, have been designed by one artist, and therefore show a rare amount of good taste and harmony.

A COLORED FASHION PLATE accompanying each dress, shows the style it is intended to be made up into, and whether followed or not, is a splendid guide in buying. No two dresses alike, and each dress a feature.

We also notice on the counters— MOIRE, SILK AND SATIN DRESS PATTERNS, in various colors, designs, qualities and prices; Fine Wool Mixtures, in somber hues, and somewhat changeable effects, stylish and new; Irregular Pin-head Checks, deep green and gold colors, 321/2 cents per yard; Summer Silks, 50 cents. AMERICAN RIVER BRIDGE.

The following opinion was filed with the Board of Sapervisors yesterday by the District Attorney of Sacramento county: To the Hon, Board of Supervisors-Gentlemen To the Hon. Board of Supervisors—Gentlemen: In obedience to a resolution passed some months since by your honorable body, instructing the Listrict Attorney to take the necessary legal steps with the end in view that the American river bridge might become a free public highway, I respectfully The Legislature, by an Act approved May 6, 1861, granted R. A. Pearis, L. B. Harris and others a charter and franchise to construct across the American river the toll bridge in question, with the right to incorporate and her said things for a construct across the American river the toll bridge in question, with the right to incorporate and her said things for a construct across the American river the toll bridge in question, with the right to incorporate and use said bridge for a period of 25 to incorporate and use said bridge for a period of 25 years. At the time this charter was granted as above, the American river at the place crossed by said tell bridge was, by legislative enactment, a navigable stream. (See Statutes 1851, pages 422-3; Statutes 1853, pages 182-2; Political Code, Section 2348.)

In the Code of Civil Procedure, Title 7, there is sonferred upon the State or its agents (in this case the Board of Supervisors), in the exercise of the right of eminent dom in, the power to take private property for public use. Section 1240 of said Title, upon the state of the property for public use. Section 1240 of said Title, upon the state of the property for public use. Section 1240 of said Title. go ther things, provides as follows: "Section The jet ate property which may be taken r this title includes: 4. Franchises for roads, toll bridges and ferries, and all other franchises; but such franchises shall not be taken unless for free highways, railroads or other more necessary public ase." This Title provides a simple and expeditions mode of procedure by means of which, in my judgment, the bridge in question, by a judicial judgment of condemnation, may become with keeping a cigar stand and selling his he property of the public upon the payment to the corporation of the value of the property condemned, as provided in said Title.

It is my belief, further, that the American River long as in the former cases, but he quoted It is my belief, further, that the American River bridge, as constructed, is an obstruction upon a public highway, an impediment to navigation, and its maintenance a criminal act, as provided in the Penal Code. The American river at this point being by law declared a navigable stream it occurs to me as being unlawful to maintain across said stream a bridge unprovided with a draw or swing of sufficient space or span to permit the safe, convenient and expeditious passage of vessels which may navigate said river. The American river is a public bighway, and said bridge, as it exists, unprovided with any draw or span, is an active risa public bighway, and said bridge, as it exists, unprovided with any draw or span, is an active risa public bighway, and said bridge, as it exists, unprovided with any draw or span, is an active risa public bighway, and said bridge, as it exists, unprovided with any draw or span, is an active risa public bighway and said bridge, as it exists, unprovided with any draw or span, is an active risa public bighway and said bridge.

THE SUNDAY LAW The Third Case Tried and a Verdict of Acquittal. Yesterday morning the case of Hubert was called in the Police Court. Judge T. B. Major W. A. Anderson for the prosecution. said that two representative cases had been tried, and that a verdiet of acquittal had been rendered in each case; that it was evitiment did not demand any further sacrifice of time on the part of the jury, and therefore asked that the other cases be dismissed.

W. A. Anderson, City Attorney, replied that he could not consent to dismiss the other cases unless he was satisfied by the expression of public opinion by the people, or through the press, that it was not his duty to proceed further; that with the cases on the alendar it was simply a plain duty of his to follow the law in these prosecutions, therefore he refused to allow the cases to be dismissed at this time.

A leading member of a temperance organization of this city, one of the jurors, addressed the City Attorney, and stated that public opinion and temperance people generally were opposed to any further prosecutions. Business men, he said, were commencing to grumble at the City Attorney for insisting on their serving on juries, where it was already understood that a conviction was impossible. It was taking their time from their business, and that he was satisfied that a majority of the law-abiding citizens of this city were in favor of a discontinuance of

The City Attorney replied that he had a plain du'y to perform, and if they desired a discontinuance that there should be some out-outrage on this community.

The case was proceeded with. Thirty-five jurors were called, and the following twelve were sworn in to try the cause: Jasper Drake, N. Dingley, Clarence Nelson, George Schroth, O. N. Morse, R. A. Fisk, J. M. Smith, S. Lavenson, G. B. Blue, C. C. Taft, Addison Sage, E. M. Skaggs.

MIDDLE-ASED MEN.

There are many at the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with too frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting of burning sensation, and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposits a ropy sediment will often be found, and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of a thin milkish hue, again changing to a dark and torpid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness.
